

For Congress

We are authorized to announce that R. L. DAVISON, Jr., is a candidate for re-election to Congress from this, the Fourth Congressional District, subject to the action of the Democratic Party.

For Sheriff

We are authorized to announce that A. C. KIMBALL is a candidate for the nomination for Sheriff of Washington county, subject to the action of the Democratic Party. Deputies: R. L. DAVISON, Jr., J. W. EDDIE, and J. W. EDDIE, Jr.

A good deal of feeling and excitement is being expressed at the trial of alleged night riders at Paducah. A dispatch from there says: "Circuit Judge Thomas B. Cook, at the opening of court this afternoon, called in the grand jury and charged them that he wished them to investigate reports, being circulated around Murray that he and the Commonwealth's Attorney, Denny B. Smith, of Tripp county, are night riders and have taken oath. He said it is bandied about the city witnesses could be produced to prove the fact. He said he wished the County Attorney to conduct the investigation and mentioned the names of several who he said would be important witnesses. Since the case of Jake Ellis has been on trial some criticism of the court has been heard and it is this which induced the court to lay the matter before the grand jury."

The Barley Tobacco Society is having an important meeting at Winchester. The reports indicate that 40,000 hogheads of the 1906 pooled crop has been sold leaving 12,000 hogheads unsold. Practically none of the 1907 crop has been sold. It is estimated that the crop of 1908 will amount to 8,000 or 10,000 hogheads and a resolution was passed refusing to allow those who have raised a crop in 1908 over the protests of the Equity people to pool these crops. This last action will probably cause little regret among the growers most of whom are entirely independent of Equity and the pools.

The Republican Campaign Committee for Kentucky has been organized, and headquarters have been established in Louisville. The Committee is composed of good experienced men in political work, and a strong fight will be made to keep Kentucky in the Republican column this fall.

William J. Bryan was notified of his nomination for President on Tuesday at his home at Lincoln. He expressed no surprise. William J. is getting used to being nominated. He may as well be getting used to being defeated also.

Soft Drink

What The Doctors Say:

We the practicing physicians of Elizabethtown, take pleasure in commending the use of the beverages manufactured by the Durham Bottling Works of this city to be pure and healthful. We find the water used by them in their drinks according to chemical analysis to be pure and as good as can be found. Both the water and the syrups are filtered before use and they take so much pains in washing and cleaning their bottles that they cannot be soiled. We find they use no chemical sweetener or harmful ingredients of any kind in their drinks, but use nothing but pure fruit flavors and granulated sugars. These drinks can be any medicine and in some cases are recommended by the connection with medicines as they will be quite helpful to the weak and delicate.

FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

Black lace should not be washed in hot water. It is decidedly better to wash it in cold water. It should be washed in cold water and then dipped in a solution of deep blue water. When the lace has been dipped and brownish in color the best plan is to wash it in soap and then rinse and stiffen it in deep blue water. The lace should be all rolled in an old cloth for a short time and then pinned out with the cloth between it and the sheet, as it imparts a blue stain, which it would be necessary to remove from the sheet.

When the lace is quite dry remove the pins and place a piece of tissue paper over it. Iron it with the paper between it and the iron. If the iron is placed directly on the lace it will leave a glow on it which is not pretty and which stamps it as "washed lace."

For Infected Ears.
Anything containing the ees should never be applied to the ear. The ees should be washed with a solution of salt water. Two drams of greenish and borax are beaten with the water to make a solution.

One wineglass of cold water to be added, and the mixture is beaten again. This will soon be the case. The ees should be washed with the mixture. The mixture is beaten again. This will soon be the case. The ees should be washed with the mixture.

Several from here are going to attend the convention at Maad Tuesday.

Served as coffee the new coffee substitute known to grocers everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Health Coffee. Not a grain of real coffee in it either. Purely a vegetable product. It has been proven, without a doubt, to be a powerful, practical remedy for this trouble, as it is with pleasure I offer my conscientious reference. Sold by Red Cross Drug Store.

A Table Convenience.
Through the ingenuity of a New York restaurant man food on the cob may now be eaten without annoyance. This man has devised a combination corn holder not only keeps the corn from rolling off one's plate, but also enables the diner to manipulate it, by means of a rod at either end of the holder, with the fingers. The holder avoids smothering the fingers.

When drawing ribbon through beads in a waist that buttons in the back, divide the ribbon in half and start in the center front of waist and draw ribbon each way. This will leave both ends even and half the work, and the ribbon will be so carved. For a corset cover, start in the center of the front of the bodice and draw the ribbon each way. This will leave the ends even and half the work, and the ribbon will be so carved.

Why He Never Spoke.

HINTS FOR FARMERS

Weeds That Shop Eat.
The Minnesota station gives the analyses of weeds which sheep eat readily and their protein contents compared with alfalfa, clover and timothy hay. It will be a surprise to many to see how high the protein contents of weeds are, and it suggests the reason sheep flourish on them, worthless as they are otherwise. Here are the analyses: Lambs' quarters, 62.00 protein, 54.04 carbohydrates, 1.30 fat; purslane, 26.13 protein, 53.70 carbohydrates, 2.29 fat; pigweed, 20.54 protein, 42.26 carbohydrates, 1.30 fat; jandelion, 24.64 protein, 58.05 carbohydrates, 2.70 fat; catnip, 22.82 protein, 40.07 carbohydrates, 2.06 fat; goldenrod, 11.83 protein, 70.03 carbohydrates, 4.80 fat; mustard, 15.75 protein, 75.00 carbohydrates, 2.50 fat; quack grass, 11.27 protein, 79.12 carbohydrates, 1.90 fat; alfalfa, 20.00 protein, 46.00 carbohydrates, 2.40 fat; clover, 13.35 protein, 52.28 carbohydrates, 3.65 fat; timothy hay, 8.75 protein, 41.76 carbohydrates, 2.16 fat.

Soiling Crops.
A mixture of Kaffir corn and cowpeas at the Pennsylvania station produced the largest yield of green substance per acre, was relieved by the cows and was entirely satisfactory from the standpoint of milk production. Alfalfa produced the largest yield of dry substance per acre, and the cows seemed to hold a steady yield in milk production when on alfalfa than on any other crops tested. Oats and peas proved satisfactory as a soiling crop. Hay produced the earliest soiling crop and gave a large yield of dry substance per acre, but under average conditions it ripens too early to be most satisfactory. The different forage crops tested seemed to have little, if any, effect upon the composition of the milk—American Cultivator.

Plans For New Dairy Barns.
For the last two or three years the dairy division of the department of agriculture has been making an investigation of all the principal dairy barns in the United States and a study of the best methods of construction, with reference to convenience, cheapness in feeding and handling of stock, sanitation, etc. The result is that the division has a large number of plans suitable for building barns and stables of varying costs, so that any one contemplating building a barn can plan, by simply corresponding with the chief of the division, a set of building plans which will probably just about meet his needs.

Horse Boxes.
Turning the work teams out to pasture at night is better than keeping them shut up in a close, poorly ventilated stable.

Every farmer must have horses. We do not have the best, then, and make it a rule to have the best. We do not have the best, then, and make it a rule to have the best. We do not have the best, then, and make it a rule to have the best.

The time to sell the colt is when a good price is offered. It is a good policy to have him ready to attract the good price, though.

Begin to train the little fellow when he is very young if you would keep him from getting wild. Be judicious about it, though, at all times.

Hog Notes.
The hog with large bones is rapidly growing in favor.

Very frequently the feeding animals to more than the pedigree.

Dipping hogs is no longer a tedious and expensive task. It is now a simple matter. An average litter of seven or eight pigs will be pretty nearly self-sufficient in a good price.

A good way to save high priced hogs is to provide good alfalfa pasture. The man who never has dipped his hogs is the man who objects to it most.

A good hog will do a great deal of good to the hog raiser upon solid footing. Kimball's Dairy Farmer.

Slugs For Beef.
Everywhere the feeding of slugs to dairy cattle and beef cattle, horses and hogs is attracting each year more and more attention. The Ohio experiment station has recently completed a test in which it was established that corn slugs under the conditions of the experiment had a value of $4.42 per ton in feeding for beef. In view of this fact any one feeding slugs consider what he is doing when he feeds slugs to his cattle. Corn makes ten to fifteen tons of slugs.

Green Food For Poultry.
The value of green food for poultry lies in the fact it renders the digestion of other feeds and in the effect of disease or adding bulk to the ration. Besides affording various and valuable nutrients, particularly protein, which is essential in the growth of any animal. Protein is the element of food which produces bone and muscle, and any growing animal in order to thrive must have the required amount.

Manure For Poultry.
The feeding of manure to poultry is not looked upon with much favor at the present time as formerly, says the Farmers Advocate. However, if manure is to be fed, skim milk or buttermilk will make a valuable addition to the manure. It is not necessary to use a large amount of manure, but a valuable source of protein, and the birds should be fed as liberally as possible of manure and its products.

A Poultry Hint.
Do not waste too much time trying to cure fowls afflicted with some disease that you do not understand. Better kill them at once unless there are valuable exhibition qualities. Keep your fowls clean and dry and there will not be much danger from disease.

Indigestion Disasters.
Vanilla Beans—How odd! That solid globe of yours makes a black mark around your finger, and then the ring didn't make that mark. That's the dirt—Chicago Tribune.

Cultivate Your Power.
Do not pray for easy lives. Pray to be stronger men. Do not pray for tasks equal to your powers. Pray for powers equal to your tasks. Then the doing of your work shall be no miracle. But you shall be a miracle. Every day you shall wonder at your own richness of life which has come in you by the grace of God—Phillips Brooks.

The State University
LEXINGTON, KY.

The State University, Lexington, Kentucky, offers the following courses: namely, Agricultural, Mechanical Engineering, Civil Engineering, Electrical Engineering, Mining Engineering, Classical and seven Scientific courses each of which extends over four years and leads to a Bachelor's degree; also a Department of Law and a Department of Education, which last has been established instead of the Normal School. Persons who enter this department prepare for advanced work in pedagogy and are granted a Bachelor's degree in this subject when completed. The Academy for preparatory instruction is retained.

County appointees receive free tuition, privilege of residence in the dormitories, fuel and light, traveling expenses, if they remain ten consecutive months, or one collegiate year.

The laboratory and museum are large, well equipped, comprehensive and modern. Military Science is fully provided for as required by Congress.

The graduates in the several courses of study readily find employment with liberal remuneration. The total number of matriculates for last year was 1078. Each department has a specialist as its head, with the necessary number of assistants.

Young women find an excellent home, with board and lodging, in Patterson Hall, which is well equipped with all the modern conveniences, bath room, hall for physical culture, at $3.00 per week. All courses of study in the University are open to women on identical conditions with those applying to males.

The completion of the Agricultural, Mining Engineering Laboratory and Education buildings afford ample and commodious quarters for these departments, which are rapidly increasing in the number of matriculates.

For catalogues, methods of obtaining appointments, information regarding courses of study and terms of admission, apply to

WOMEN WERE SCARCE.

A Feminine Fete Given at a Purse in California's Early Days.

There were few women in the California mining camps in the old days, and the advent of so elegant a woman with a woman in it caused a furore. As reported by the following fact: "The whole camp 'blew' as we were called, were scattered about the coyote diggings for a distance of about four miles, and when anything unusual happened the words, 'Oh, Joe!' would be heard along the whole line. When the feminine element entered, it caused the usual alarm, 'Oh, Joe!' and this called the attention of the miners to the 'buckskin' where I was, to the disturbance which had attracted my notice. They gathered about on the hill, nearly surrounding the covered wagon and its contents, and then the boys in the immediate vicinity to see the wonderful sight attracted there, and it was less than ten minutes before three thousand young men were anxiously watching the wagon, clothesline and fascinating figure to attract the man who belonged to the usual alarm, 'Oh, Joe!' and this called the attention of the miners to the 'buckskin' where I was, to the disturbance which had attracted my notice. Couldn't Show Her.
"Now, Allen," said the young husband the day after their arrival in the country, "be careful and not show your ignorance about things you don't know. We laugh at the country people when they come to the city, but when they get us out here they have the laugh on us. So don't let Mr. Jenkins ask you foolish questions or run when a cow looks at you."

"Oh, indeed?" retorted his wife insistently. "I'd like to have you understand that I'm not as green as you seem to think. I'm not afraid of cows, what's what, I know how to milk 'em."

"You know how to milk?" exclaimed the astonished George. "Where on earth did you learn?"

"That's all right," she replied evasively, "but if you don't believe it you just come around to the barn after you get back from your fishing trip tonight and I'll surprise you."

"George was still skeptical," but on his return, about sunset, he strolled out to the barn. The cows were all in their places. His attention was attracted by the shimmer of a white dress at the far end of the line. And there, seated on a stool beside a very rustic bovine, undismayed by the constant switching of the animal's tail or an occasional foot in the pan, sat Alice, pompously milking her cow—with a leisurely sneering—Lippincott's Magazine.

Seeking Solace.
"Why do people go to the country in the summer?"

"I think it's because they like to hear the man who keeps the hotel talk," answered Mr. Sittus Barker. "It's a comfort to hear somebody insisting, even as a matter of business, that the temperature is a whole lot lower than it is in the city."—Washington Star.

Remarkable Modesty.
"Will you marry me, Miss Tom-ney?" asked Mr. Collingwood.

"No, indeed," replied she. "I wouldn't marry the best man on earth."

"Of course you won't. You'll never have an opportunity. But that is no reason why you shouldn't marry me."
—Detroit Free Press.

my father by his first name."

"There yer go, bragging about yer blame family again!"—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Not His Fault.
"I just saw Goodley coming home," said the first suburbanite, "and he was 'barrelled,' so enough."

"I never knew him to drink at all."
"Oh, not! But it seems he went swimming down in the creek and somebody stole his clothes."—Philadelphia
